PRESENTATIONS

Although IMSF conferences started mainly discussing simulation with ship bridge systems, we feel that inclusion of simulation of the entire marine domain is urgently required to justify the mere existence of the International Marine Simulator Forum.

Therefore it is explicitly requested to widen the range of topics presented, to include all types of present and future marine simulation, in the widest sense.

Due to recent development on the topic it seems relevant to extend the autonomous shipping to simatlon creating “Autonomous Simulation, What Next?”, as a potential seminar theme.

Suggested presentation topics could thus include, but are not limited to:

- a. Trends in computer simulation technology,
- b. Hydrodynamic, visual and other related (mathematical) modelling,
- c. Applications of simulation in navigation, engineering, communication, survival, offshore, dredging, pollution control, autonomous shipping,
- d. Simulation applied in education, training, and research,
- e. Instructors, assessors, supervisors in the simulation loop,
- f. Relevant other simulation applications in the entire marine domain.

All selected presentations will be scheduled as a 30 min. session. Depending on the types and amount of topics there might be simultaneous streams of presentations.

A printed version of the content of each presentation will be available at the seminar opening. A detailed schedule for selected workshop sessions will be announced in advance of the AGM.

Draft presentation contents on above topics can be submitted latest 1 September 2019 to IMSF Area Rep Asia Pacific, michael.woodward@utas.edu.au

IMSF Chairman, sjcross@hetnet.nl

Approval will be confirmed by 5 September 2019.

Complete presentation content descriptions need to be submitted by 10 September 2019.
